

Death of Mrs. E. H. Redpath. of Hoyleton.

(From our Kybunga Correspondent.)

The sudden death of Mrs. E. H. Redpath when she collapsed from a heart attack whilst boarding the train home on Thursday, Oct. 21st, at the Adelaide Railway station came as a great shock to her many friends and relatives. Mrs. Redpath, who was born at Woodlands, her late home 68 years ago, married Mr. Redpath and later resided on the property of her late father, Mr John Jenke. Mrs. Redpath, who was an ardent worker for many charities was for many years the president of the Hoy-leton Red Cross, and a Life Member. Amongst those that received many benefits from her efforts were Minda Home, Brighton, Kate Cocks, Babies' Home Brighton, and many other institutions. Her liberal assistance to those in less fortunate circumstances was done in a very quiet way, and many in need of assistance will certainly miss the many generous gestures.

She was a great traveller, having made trips to all the capital cities in Australia, including Pt. Darwin. Two trips to England, including visits to Norway, Sweden, Germany, France, Italy, Spain and a trip to America. She was an ardent church worker, and a member of the Woodlands Methodist Church, and a member of the Kybunga Methodist Ladies' Guild, and Hoyleton Ladies' Guild.

She helped the Balaklava Soldiers' Memorial Hospital Auxiliary in raising money for that Institution. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. F. W. Baker is the president of this Auxiliary.

Mrs. Redpath was laid to rest in the Balaklava cemetery, when an extremely large crowd had gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. The floral tributes, of which there was a large number, showed the respect in which she was held in the district.

The Rev. Hansen, of Balaklava conducted the service at the graveside, and pall bearers were Messrs. W. O. Evans, R. Newton, W. J. Chapman, A. Graham, L. W. Tucker and F. J. W. Clarke.

Members of the family are Mrs. F. W. Bakes, Watchman; Mrs. T. Day, Balaklava; Mrs. K. Overton, Auburn; Mrs. H. Cullen, Lae, New Guinea; Mr. John Redpath, Hoyleton. The funeral arrangements were conducted by Mr. A. Ahrns, of Balaklava.
