Muilewa News,

---

(From our own correspondent.)

It affords me great pleasure to chronicle an event of more than ordinary interest, which occurred here on Monday last. I refer to the marriage of Miss Warren, eldest daughter of Mr D. Warren, J.P., an old and respected resident of Muilewa, and Mr W. E. R. Tiller, eldest son of the Rev J. Tiller, of Guildford. The latter had the honour of uniting the happy couple, and this fact must have rendered the ceremony all the more pleasing, not to say less disconcerting, to the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed in the Town Hall, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and which was crowded to the door, the number assembled being probably the largest that has graced the building since its erection some two years ago. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very sweet, being prettily attired and wreathed in smiles of happiness. She wore a dress of ivory silk, with pearl trimmings, and a lovely wreath and veil. The bridesmaids were Miss Jessie Webber, of, Moor-yoonooka, and Miss Maggie Warren, sister of the bride. The former wore a dainty frock of pink voile, while the latter was neatly dressed in ivory silk. Little Misses Delphine Tiller and Milly Warren acted as train-bearers, and Mr Jack Tiller, brother of the bridegroom, efficiently performed the duties of best man. At the wedding breakfast, the Rev J. Tiller, in a humorous speech, and in his usual good style, proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, the toast being honoured with great enthusiasm. Other toasts followed in the usual order, that of the bride's parents being in the hands of Mr J. Bowes, who made deservedly eulogistic reference to Mr and Mrs Warren, both of whom are held in high esteem throughout the district. I should not omit to mention that a magnificent three decker wedding cake, supported by pillars, and weighing not less than 56 lbs, was the subject of much appreciative comment. This was the work of our local baker, Mr J. E. White. The wedding presents, which were numerous, were, without exception, exceedingly handsome. In the evening a dance was given by the parents of the bride. This was attended by a very large circle of friends, who enjoyed themselves till the arrival of the early morning train, by which the happy couple took their departure citywards, where they propose spending their honeymoon. Before taking their departure they were the recipients of many sincere and hearty good wishes for their future happiness and prosperity.
